
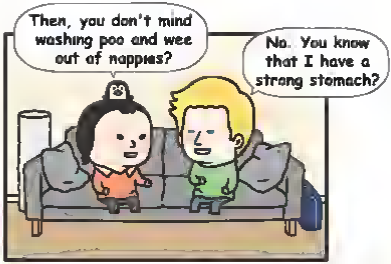
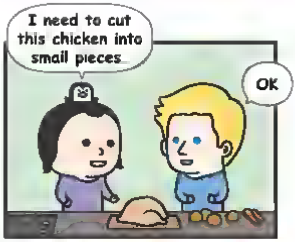
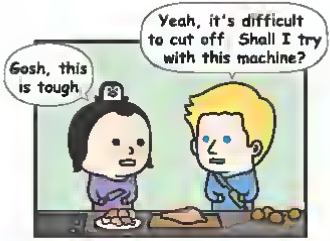
... the cottan nappy is a difficult thing even in my imagination

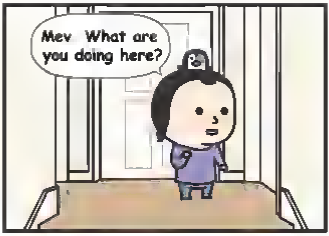


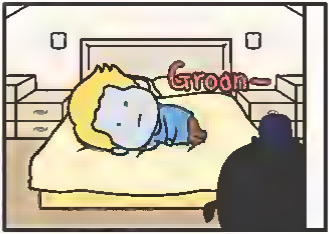


Before I started to make the stew,
I needed to cut the big chicken.



With Mev's help,
I could cut them off fine finally.

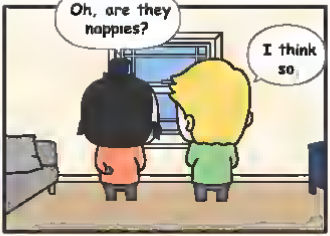




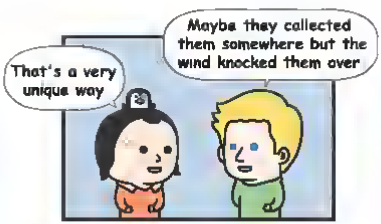
I remember exactly how you looked after you cut the chicken up.

So after that I cooked without him.

Nappy



One day, we saw by chance that one of our neighbor kept some used nappies in their back garden

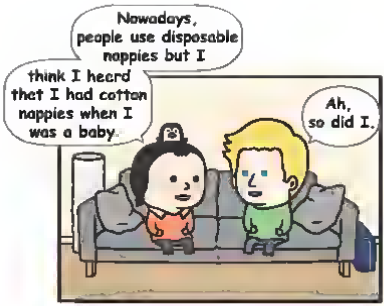


It made us talk about nappies.

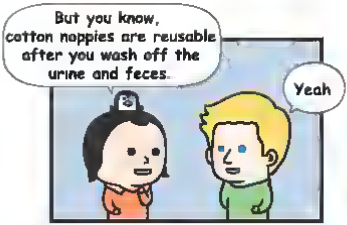
... A STRONG STOMACH?

A strong stomach?

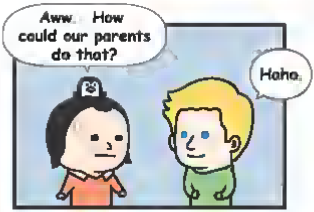
What he said took me back to about 5 years ago



Nowadays, people use disposable nappies but I think I heard that I had cotton nappies when I was a baby.
Ah, so did I.



But you know, cotton nappies are reusable after you wash off the urine and feces.
Yeah



I'm not sure if it's because I haven't been a mother yet

I understand these benefits but...

It was the day that
I'd cooked a Korean meal for
Mev's family for the first time.

I decided to make a spicy chicken stew.

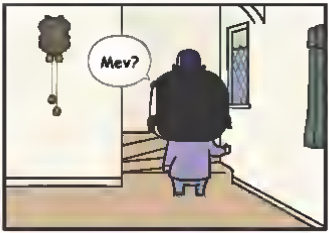
Mev, hey, Mev~



Mev?